In the recent Maryland Derby at Laurel, *River War had two starters (he was the only sire to have more than one) and of these top Maryland-Bred three year olds Solid Fuel was second and Fatal Conflict was fourth. *River War's 1964 foal crop promises to be his largest and best yet and he is among the very first Md. sires to have a mare pronounced in foal to him from the 1964 breeding season.

Tuscany sired 36 winners of $214,110 and 61 firsts, 91 seconds, and 93 thirds in 1963. Tuscany is having a better breeding season than ever and promises to have an outstanding foal crop in 1964.

CAREER BOY should make a sire. He was bred to be a sire. He looks like a sire. He was quite a race horse. He and NATIVE DANCER are the only horses standing in Maryland who were assigned HIGHWEIGHT on the EXPERIMENTAL HANDICAP.

CAREER BOY was voted BEST GRASS HORSE of his year at 3. With three small crops (including 2-year-olds of 1963), he has sired more than his share of useful winners and the big horses are bound to come.

*Impressive

A stallion's success is based on his pedigree, racing record and performance at stud. In Go Lightly, you invest in all three . . . a combination that has already produced winners from mares, which, for the most part, had few credentials.

With winners at 2 in 1962, his first crop was still winning in 1963.

CHECK his record:

Crop	starters	winners	placed	unp
1960	8	5	1	2
1961	14	7	5	2

In 1963, with 19 starters, GO LIGHTLY had 11 winners of 24 races, 5 horses placed and 3 unplaced.

Think what GO LIGHTLY could do if you bred him to an allowance class mare.

The remarkable Spin has compiled an amazing record. His first small crop, foals of 1960, numbered eight foals. Of these seven were winners, and two of the seven placed in stakes. Winners in that crop were: Air Spin (Placed in Stakes), Moss Neck (Placed in Stakes), Count Spin, La Espuma, Strius, Evil Dick and Artistic Spin.

Seven winners have come from Spin's second crop. Topping the list was the stakes-winning Spiral who was weighted at 110 pounds on the Experimental Handicap. This is only one pound less than the Experimental weight assigned Repeating, Maryland's "horse-of-the-year" in 1963. In addition to Spiral, Spin's second crop includes these winners: All Spin, Red Scarf, Asian Spin, A Clear Spin, Always Spinning and Poplar Grove.

Bred to be a sire

HIS SIRE TRAGHETTO was leading sire in Italy in 1958, 1960 and 1961. Among the other classic winners he has sired are:

NUCCIO (Gran Premio d'Italia, Prix de Triomphe, Coronation Cup, etc. and sire in France)

ZAMORETTO (Italian Derby and sire in Italy)

ALBERIGO (Italian 2000 Guineas and sire in Italy)

RIO MARIN (Italian Derby, Grosser Preis Von Baden)

TRAGHETTO is by the undefeated Cavaliere d'Arpino, leading sire and sire of Trau and Bellini (sire of Tissot and Tenerani, the sire of Ribot). He in turn is by Havresac II, leading Italian sire ten times and sire of the dam of Nearco. Traghetto's dam is the stakes winner Talma, dam and grand-dam of classic winners, by the English Derby winner Papyrus.

HIS DAM VENEZIANA comes from one of the great, tough old Italian families. She was a winner of six races and was second in both the Italian Oaks and 1000 Guineas. Her foals, through 1960, have won 128 races including Premio San Siro and Premio Lombardia. Veneziana is by the Italian Derby winner Pilade (leading sire in Italy three successive seasons until taken during the war). He in turn is by the English Derby winner and leading Italian sire Captain Cuttle.

HIS RACE RECORD: *PEVERON won 13 races and 16,702,000 lira. He won from 5 furlongs to 1¼ miles. He won under top weight and on any track.

As a two-year-old *Peveron started seven times, winning the 5 furlong Premio Tramuschio and Italy's classic all-age race the 7 furlong Premio Chiusura by 3 lengths. In his other starts he was never out of the money and was allotted third top weight in the Italian Free Handicap.

At three *Peveron started six times. He was unplaced once (his first start) then won the Premio Parioli (Italian 2000 Guineas), 1 mile, by 4 lengths and was third in the Italian Derby, 1½ miles, and again third in Gran Premio d'Italia, 1½ miles.

At four *Peveron started racing on January 29th and stopped on December 6th. He started 14 times winning 7 Stakes from 1 mile to 1¼ miles. He frequently earned top weight and won by margins of up to eight lengths.

At five *Peveron was rested during the spring and summer but started five times in the fall winning three including Premio Torino for the second time. At six, (1961) he started four times but his best effort was a second in Premio Scraio and, although still completely sound, it was decided to retire him.

Pancita opening her racing career with a victory at Laurel.

Confidence in Panacean? You bet we have! ! !

We could have bred Triple R. to any of the top stallions in Kentucky. After all, she's that kind of mare: a proven producer, dam of the $228,915 winner BRONZE BABU, and kinswoman to Grecian Princess, only the second filly in history to win the $40,000 Louisiana Derby.

Instead, we practiced what we preach—and bred Triple R. to Panacean.

Satisfied? You bet we are. From the Panacean—Triple R. mating we got Pancita, who had on her running shoes at Laurel, winning first time out.

We couldn't ask for anything more. That's why we invite you to share our confidence in PANACEAN.

This is one of the most fertile of the great Calumet producing families. Two Lea is the dam of the Kentucky Derby-Preakness winner Tim Tam, sire of Tosmah, champion two-year-old filly of 1963.

Captain Morgan, pick of the Calumet crop of his year, won races, but injuries robbed him of his great potential. With only limited opportunity at stud, he is siring winners that continue to win. If the rich Maryland-Bred Fund Program is your goal, Captain Morgan warrants your attention.

J. MILLARD TAWES
GOVERNOR

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT

ANNAPOLIS, MARYLAND

March 17, 1964

Directors and Officers
Maryland Horse Breeders' Association, Inc.
P.O. Box 4
Timonium, Maryland

Gentlemen:

I wish to take this opportunity to congratulate your organization and the officials of the Laurel Race Course for the courtesy being extended the public in conducting an open house at Laurel on Sunday, March 22.

As I understand the program, your organization and the Laurel track are making a combined effort to familiarize the public with the traditions of Maryland's long-cherished horse-breeding industry. That you are willing to bring your mares, foals and yearlings to the race track for this Sunday exhibition proves beyond doubt that the horse breeders in Maryland are more than willing to promote their industry. It is thinking of this type which places Maryland in the forefront of the Thoroughbred world.

I recently was given the following report on your industry:

	Number of Farms	Acres	Counties	Mares	Stallions
1937	34	21,064	11	388	31
1952	176	44,106	18	815	75
1964	276	46,047	19	1,182	158

Figures such as these speak for themselves. Obviously, you are doing a fine job, and it is clearly apparent that Maryland horse breeders are effecting a resurgence of their industry far beyond my most optimistic hopes. I realize that the Maryland Fund Program is a principal reason for the health so apparent in your industry. It was my pleasure to sign this bill (House Bill 106) into law almost two years ago. Your administration of this law and your eagerness to promote and publicize its advantages has proved a constant source of happiness to me.

I only wish that I were able to attend the program at Laurel this Sunday and congratulate each of you personally. But I cannot work this into my schedule, regrettable though it may be. In my absence, I hope that you will extend to all those persons present the best wishes of Mrs. Tawes and myself.

Sincerely,

J. Millard Tawes
Governor

Maryland Horse Breeders

For Sunday Exhibition

Mr. Bruce S. Campbell
President,
Maryland Horse Breeders' Assoc.
Timonium, Md.

March 24, 1964

Dear Bruce:

I am sure you share my pleasure at the response to last Sunday's "Open House" at Laurel. The number of people attending are proof, I believe, of the great interest in the Thoroughbred that exists among the general public.

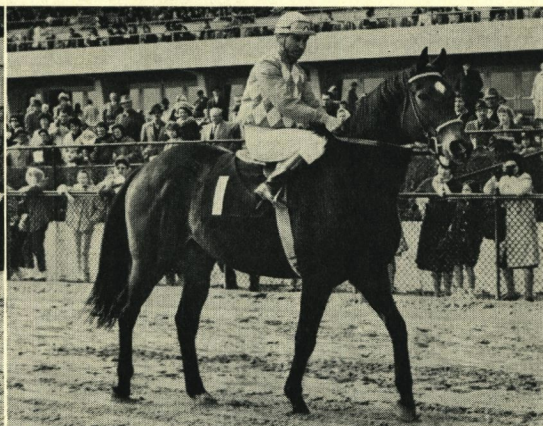

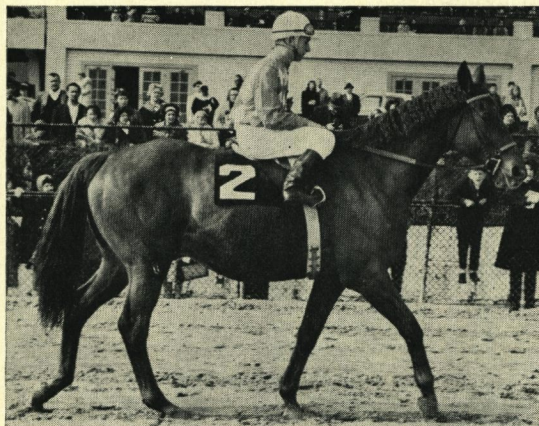

Naturally, we couldn't have presented a program of such scope or interest without the excellent cooperation we received from The Maryland Horse Breeders' Association. I would especially like to commend Snowden Carter for his invaluable assistance in all phases of planning, from inception to completion.

It was, indeed, a wonderful day. Again, my sincere appreciation to The Maryland Horse Breeders' Association for making it possible.

Cordially,
John D. Schapiro
President, Laurel Race Course

The Show Went On

Photographs By Jerry Frutkoff

THE snow had begun falling Saturday afternoon. It came down steadily during the night, and, upon going to bed that evening, no one could predict what would happen on Sunday, March 22—the day set aside for Laurel's open house.

The Maryland Horse Breeders' Association was deeply involved in Laurel's attempt to show the general public some of the behind-the-scenes effort which goes into Thoroughbred racing.

The M.H.B.A. was responsible for getting a mare and her foal, a yearling and three great all-time Maryland-breds to the track for the public to observe.

There was to be nothing fancy about the program. Laurel had promised to provide free coffee and soft drinks. The public would be invited to submit names for the yearling filly. The person turning in the winning name would receive a $25 savings bond.

There were also some door prizes—a free day at the races, reserved seats for the Washington International and autographed pictures of Kelso and Native Dancer.

The idea was simple: put on a little show for horse fans who would like to know more about racing.

And so it snowed steadily all Saturday night.

Those who lived in Baltimore County awoke Sunday with five to seven inches of snow on the ground.

Was the program on or off?

Could the horses be collected at the various farms and safely shipped to Laurel?

Would anybody show up?

The telephones commenced ringing at 6.30 A.M.

"There's hardly any snow at Laurel," came the report to Baltimore Countians.

The show, then, was on.

Could the vans make it? Would the public turn out?

Frank A. Bonsal's Pilaster would be the most difficult to pick up because of snow conditions on the Mantua Mill Road. So Pilaster was dropped.

The other horses were quartered at Sagamore Farm, Worthington Farm and Jack Collins' farm near Laurel. All of these establishments appeared accessible for the horse van. All were shipped.

Still there was the thought that the crowd had been frightened off by the snow.

Happily, it didn't turn out that way.

The public arrived that Sunday afternoon in unbelievable numbers.

And there wasn't a place anyone could make a bet.

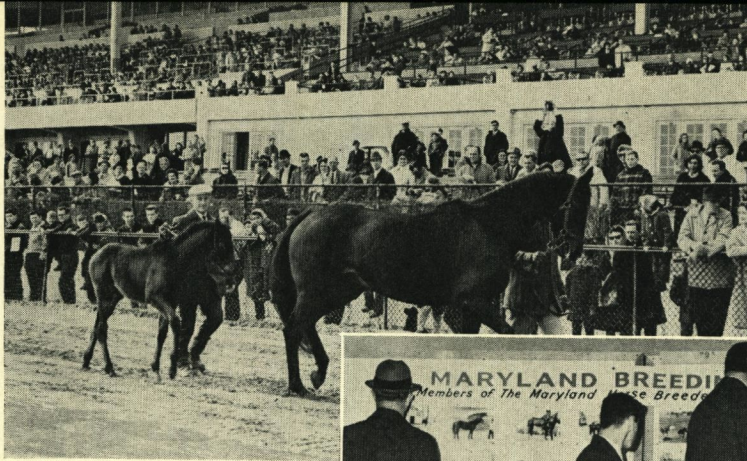

It was merely a day at the race track for fathers, mothers and children.

By 2 o'clock there were at least 6,000 persons at Laurel. By 2.30 there were 1,000 more.

Maryland-bred champion Yes You Will's first foal follows her dam, Ponderetta. At right, visitors examine picture display of Maryland breeding farms.

Raymond Haight, the track's public address announcer, opened the program with explanations of the tote board, the dirt and turf racing strips, the film patrol, etc.

Then Bonny Johnny, an excellent Maryland-bred stakes winner, was paraded up the track.

After Ray Haight finished talking about this race horse, he shifted to a description of the mare and foal (Ponderetta and her January foaled filly by Yes You Will) and then to the *Tulyar-Sunny R. yearling who was to be given a name by the public.

Next on the track were Social Outcast and Find, both owned by Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Sagamore Farm.

Ridden by Fred Kratz and his son, Fred W. Kratz, the two old pensioners chomped at the bit as their hay bellies bounced beneath them.

Eddie Blind, Laurel's starter, had them stand in the gate. Assistant starters held them quietly while Eddie told the public a little bit about his work.

"These were both good gate horses," said Blind. "The horse I had the most trouble with when I was an assistant starter was War Admiral. He broke my knee once. Another time he cracked my collarbone."

When Eddie finished his talk, the oldtimers went back to the paddock, followed by Carson Kirk on foot. Kirk had been scheduled to ride Pilaster. He wore the Bonsal colors. The crowd applauded him lustily when he was introduced.

All that was left on the program was a re-enactment of a 1911 race between a 1911 automobile, a foot runner, a horse and a heel and toe walker.

The race track's sloppy condition mired the automobile. The horse (a stable pony) completed the course but broke down. That left the two human athletes. The foot runner won handily.

That was it. The program was over. Still the crowd lingered on.

They walked here and they walked there. Everything imaginable was intensely examined. The flowers, the International racing colors, the picture display of Maryland farms, the statue of Billy Barton, the mutuel machines—anything that met the eye seemed suddenly to become a matter of great curiosity.

Most surprising of all was the eagerness of the crowd to submit names for the *Tulyar filly. Ballot boxes were stuffed to overflowing. Some fans couldn't find ballot boxes. They stuffed the slips into the slots in the admission machines.

Said one lady as she filled out a slip: "I've been saving this name for five years. I never thought I'd get a chance to use it."

The man standing beside her said: "And you didn't think you'd get paid $25 for it, either."

Replied the woman: "I don't care about the money, just so they use my name."

The name this lady submitted was one of 2,747 which went into the ballot boxes.

In due course, the winner will be announced.

Timonium's Rebuilding Project Begins

New Race Track Heads $250,000 Work Program

A $250,000 rebuilding program is now underway at Timonium, and, when the work is completed, the venerable York Road plant will have a completely new race track measuring 300 feet less than five furlongs.

The racing strip will have chutes for 5½-furlong and one-mile races, according to Timonium's general manager, John M. Heil.

Demolition of the old Administration Building began last month the day after Mr. Heil moved his desk to the track's spanking new $75,000 office building.

The new Administration Building is located closer to the railroad tracks and has been built in such a manner that second and third floors may be added at minimal cost.

The racing strip's 5½-furlong chute will bisect the area in which the old Administration Building stood.

Asked the age of the old building, Mr. Heil said: "I don't know. It was here when I came to Timonium, and I came to Timonium in 1923. The big dining room in the back of the building was used first for the Farm & Garden Show. Later it was where we held the horse auctions."

Although the bulk of the $250,000 expenditure is being used on the racing strip itself, several other notable improvements will come in for a share of the costs.

- A new jockey's room is being built on the second floor of the racing secretary's office. The new room will come out 50 feet from the present building line.

- Underneath the new jockey's room there will be a restaurant for the horsemen.
- The show ring (directly in the path of the sweeping new race track turn) has been moved farther north.

Except for the 90 per cent completed Administration Building, the work at Timonium is only in the initial stages. But Mr. Heil is confident that the job will be finished in time for the 24-day race meeting which opens on August 24.

Mrs. Stevens Elected

Mrs. F. Edwin Stevens of Timonium has been elected President of the Maryland Pony Show, Inc. for the coming year.

A member of the Pony Show Committee since its inception 19 years ago, Mrs. Stevens is the owner of Kentucky Stables, one of the nation's top pony show stables. She succeeds James P. Molesworth as head of the Maryland Show.

Frank Cashen, of Towson, was named Vice President of the Show; Mrs. Phillip Gore, of Towson, will serve as Treasurer and Mr. & Mrs. Thomas W. Hoeffcker, of Monkton, as Secretaries.

The Maryland Pony Show will stage its 20th annual show this summer at the Maryland State Fair grounds at Timonium, according to Mrs. Stevens. At the same time, Mrs. Stevens revealed that the 1963 show was named an "Honor Show" by the American Association of Horse Shows.

The Maryland Pony Show is the largest pony and junior show in the world, the four-day affair drawing entries from all over the Eastern Seaboard as well as neighboring states.

Proceeds from last year's show went to the Charitable and Educational activities of The Junior League of Baltimore, Inc.

THE MARYLAND HORSE

Horatio A. Luro To Judge Yearling Show On May 10

The Maryland Horse Breeders' Association's 30th annual Yearling Show will be held Sunday, May 10 at Timonium with Horatio A. Luro serving as judge.

As in past years, there will be four classes—two for colts and two for fillies.

The show, which will begin at 2 P.M., is, of course, restricted to Maryland-breds.

Through the generosity of the Maryland State Fair Board, prize money for this show has been more than doubled. In past years, each of the four classes carried cash awards totaling $200.

This year two classes will have total prize money of $600 each and the other two will have prizes totaling $350 each.

In addition, the show's Grand Champion will gain a $150 cash award and the Reserve Champion will earn $50.

And, also for the first time, there will be stallion awards.

The sires of the winners of Classes I and III will earn $100 in cash.

Classes I and III are restricted to yearlings sired by stallions standing in Maryland. Classes II and IV are for Maryland-foaled yearlings sired by horses standing in States other than Maryland.

Prize money for Classes I and III will be $600 (with a split of $300, $150, $75, $50 and $25). Classes II and IV will be endowed with $350, and the division for the first five contestants will be $175, $80, $50, $30 and $15.

Mr. Luro, one of the nation's most famous trainers, agreed to judge the show when asked by M.H.B.A. Director J. Fred Colwill.

Unless something goes awry, Luro will be on hand at Pimlico in May for the $150,000-added Preakness. The "good senior" trains Northern Dancer, one of the Triple Crown favorites.

Among the other horses he has trained in the United States are *Princequillo, *Rico Monte, *Endeavour II, Bolero, Talon, *Eugenia II, Miche, *Iceberg II, *Miss Grillo, Nearctic, Grey Monarch and Natalma.

Richard B. Edgar, chairman of the M.H.B.A.'s Show Committee, is confident that the entry list for this year's show will be the largest in history.

A strong contributing factor, he says, is the fact that yearlings exhibited in the show will be eligible for a Maryland Fund 2-year-old race to be run at a Maryland mile track in the fall of 1965.

Only yearlings actually shown will be eligible for this Back Again Purse. Although the size of the purse has not yet been determined, it will be at least a $5,000 purse since no Maryland Fund races at the mile tracks are run for a smaller prize.

The entry blank on Page 43 may be torn out and mailed to the M.H.B.A. office. Additional entry blanks may be obtained by writing to THE MARYLAND HORSE.

*Sea Charger Dies

*Sea Charger, an Irish-bred syndicated stallion, died early this month at Larry MacPhail's Glenangus Farm near Bel Air.

The son of *Royal Charger had been imported in 1954 and was subsequently syndicated for $160,000.

Only 14 and young for a sire, *Sea Charger succumbed to a heart attack despite the efforts of an attending veterinarian.

*Sea Charger was purchased for MacPhail by Gordon Richards, formerly England's premier jockey, after the horse was selected the Irish Champion and Horse of the Year in 1953 when he narrowly missed being the only horse in 22 years to win the Triple Crown of Ireland.

Greatly disappointed by the loss of *Sea Charger, which stood at a fee of $1,500, MacPhail said: "It's a strange twist of fate. After *Sea Charger turned out so well, I imported his dam, Sea Flower, and she also dropped dead in a paddock at Glenangus."

Asked if *Sea Charger was insured, MacPhail explained: "I had no insurance on my one third interest, but some members of the syndicate probably had insurance."

Completes 50 Years

In a letter from Boyce, Va., Tyson Gilpin reports that John M. Hawkins has rounded out his first fifty years of employment with the Gilpin family. Starting as the farmer at Rosney Farm in 1914, John Hawkins went to Kentmere Farm when Superman took up his stud duties there in 1923. He recalls that the first mare he bred was Kentmere's Himation, a daughter of Hermis.

Following Superman at Kentmere, Hawkins was in charge of Dunlin, the mighty *Teddy who made his U.S. career at Kentmere, Granville, *Jacopo, the ill-fated *Beau Gem and *Double Eclipse.

Among the yearlings John Hawkins fitted for Saratoga were two sales-toppers: a *Teddy colt in 1934 and a War Admiral filly in 1947, the year Kenneth N. Gilpin died. He also sent up such cracks as Sun Teddy, Case Goods, Beau Fond and Cigar Maid.

During his long and interesting horse career John Hawkins says he has never missed a check and has but seldom missed a day's work.

Bowie To Expand

The tremendously successful Bowie meeting has evoked a promise from the track's owners that a "major expansion and improvement program" will be started this spring.

A joint statement by Bowie's chairman of the board, E. R. E. Carter, and the track's president, Donald C. Lillis, was released last month.

The statement follows:

This (upsurge in business) in the opinion of management, is convincing proof that the initiation of winter racing in Maryland is an unqualified success. It is providing increased income to the State, the horsemen and the tracks. The mutuel dollar is split 5 per cent to the State, 4.34 per cent to the horsemen and 3.66 per cent to the track. Because of this fact, we feel confident that Maryland will continue to allot these non-competitive and highly profitable dates in the future.

"In view of these facts, Bowie approaches its future of racing in Maryland with great confidence. We feel that the pattern that has now been established guarantees its ability to maintain its stature as a State where major league racing will prevail. We have decided that it is imperative that we embark promptly on a major expansion and improvement program and we have so notified our architects and engineers. We can assure you that Bowie will be a greatly improved and expanded place when we open in January, 1965."

Breeders' Poll Completed

Maryland Has 276 Horse Farms

With 1,182 Mares And 158 Stallions

Results of a recent questionnaire sent to the entire mailing list of THE MARYLAND HORSE reveal that there are now 276 horse farms in Maryland and that these farms embrace 46,047 acres.

Latest count on the still-shifting stallion population is 158—by far the highest in the State's history.

Of the nineteen counties reporting at least one horse farm, Baltimore County remains the most popular with 88 farms spread over 13,139 acres. There are 28 stallions and 365 broodmares in Baltimore County.

As has been the case in recent years, Howard and Harford Counties are virtually tied for second place in acreage and horse population, but neither is a threat to Baltimore County.

ALFRID Gwynne Vanderbilt's Social Outcast was chosen as Maryland's sixth all-time champion last month in a poll conducted by the Laurel Race Course and the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association.

Social Outcast joins Challedon, Gallorette, Elkridge, Vertex and Find on the list of all-time Maryland-bred champions.

Voting in the poll were the 31 members of the Maryland Racing Writers' Association who gave 23 of their first place ballots to Mr. Vanderbilt's 14-year-old chestnut gelding.

Social Outcast is by Shut Out-Pansy by *Sickle. The gelding raced 58 times during five seasons, earning $668,300. His stakes victories included: Remsen H., Whitney H., Rhode Island Special, Gallant Fox H., Narragansett Special, McLennan H., Campbell H., Lincoln Special, Sunset H., Saratoga H., Manhattan H. and Trenton H.

Throughout the early stages of his career Social Outcast was overshadowed by his stable-mate Native Dancer who was from the same Sagamore Farm foal crop. Native Dancer, one of America's all-time greats, is ineligible for the Maryland-bred honor roll because he was foaled in Kentucky.

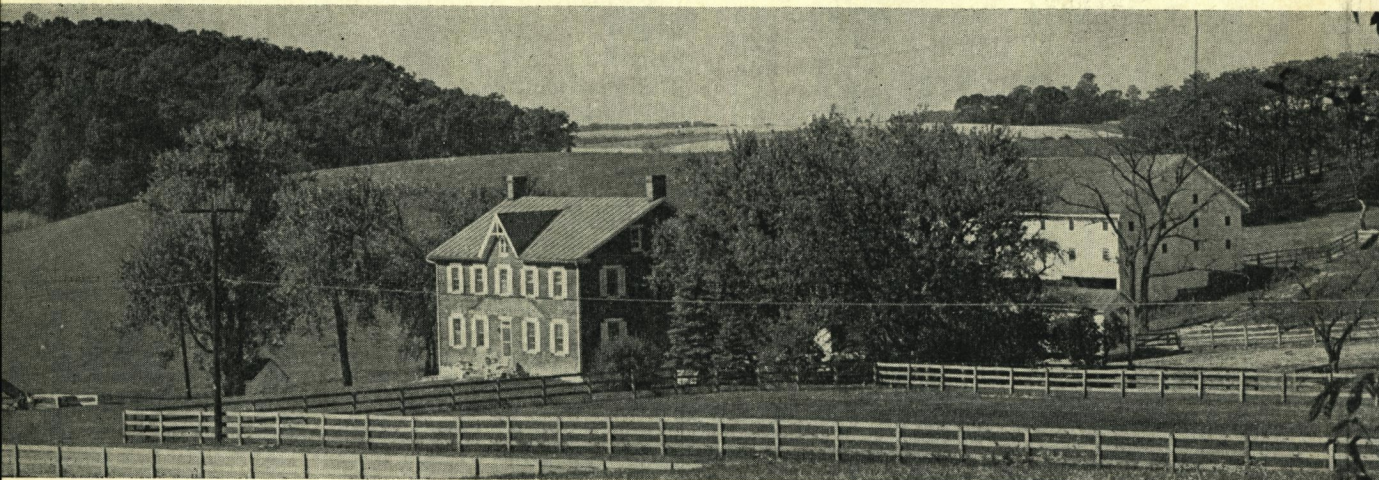

With the addition of Social Outcast, the Maryland honor roll now includes two horses foaled and raised at Sagamore Farm. The other is Find who was also from the 1950 foal crop.

Social Outcast and Find were both trained by Bill Winfrey who recently replaced Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons as trainer of the Wheatley Stable horses. George Poole trained Find during the later years of his career.

Rejected Tops General Sire List

By Joe B. Hickey, Jr.

In 1956 a survey of Maryland stallions was undertaken to afford breeders the opportunity of analyzing at close range the performance records of the progenitors comprising the Free State stallion roster. The survey—a reduction of the nation-wide tabulation to one of handy, provincial dimensions—was first published in the March, 1956 issue of THE MARYLAND HORSE.

Subsequent surveys, increasing the value of the original compilation by offering comparison with previous years, has been published in this magazine each year since.

The eighth survey, spanning the calendar year 1963 and reflecting the tremendous growth of the Thoroughbred breeding industry in the last few years, includes every Maryland stallion which sired one or more winners of some 45,000 races at recognized tracks during the year. It is divided into the three standard classifications: General Sire List, Sires of Two-Year-Old Winners and Broodmare Sires.

To circumvent the problem of stallion turnover it was arbitrarily decided to define a Maryland stallion as one standing at stud in the State, or one which made at least one season in the State since 1959, or which died in service in Maryland.

In the case of Broodmare Sires, however, any stallion making one or more seasons in Maryland since 1936 is included, provided his daughters produced the winners of $25,000 in total monies during 1963.

Statistics are taken from "Sires of Runners in 1963," published by THE BLOOD HORSE and made available to THE MARYLAND HORSE through the courtesy of the Thoroughbred Breeders and Owners Association.

The 1964 Stallion Roster, published in the January issue of this magazine, and with its February and March supplements, lists pedigrees, locations and terms of all Thoroughbred stallions registered with the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association.

With more than 150 stallions in the State, the roster has approximately doubled since the first survey was made in 1956. This year, for the first time, total monies are available. In cases of ties in Most Winners and Most Races Won categories, position preference was determined by money won. As an example, Native Dancer, *River War, *Hesoid and Career Boy appear in the last four positions among the top 15 sires of most two-year-old winners, each having sired four. Five other stallions—Double Brandy, The Pincher, Parnassus, Prince Dare and *Endeavour II—also sired four two-year-old winners. In monies won, however, they placed below the four sires gaining a ranking.

GENERAL SIRE LIST: Syndicated Rejected, moved to Maryland from Kentucky in 1962, reigns as the State's premier sire for 1963. To his credit were 41 winners of 104 races and $509,018 in total monies. Among his winners were Admiral Vic and Lemon Twist, who won five stakes last year.

The second greatest money-winner ever to stand in Maryland, Rejected, a 14-year-old son of Revoked—By Line, by *Blenheim II, holds court at Pistorio Farm, Ellicott City, Maryland, at a fee of $1,000 to approved mares.

Admiral Vic and Lemon Twist were two of their generation's better three-year-olds. Admiral Vic won the Hawthorne Gold Cup, C. W. Bidwill Memorial and Illinois Owners' Handicaps. Lemon Twist numbered among his better performances victories in the Ohio and Illinois Derbies.

Rejected's get won $509,018, placing the stallion in 14th position on the national sire list. The three horses trailing him on the Maryland list—Native Dancer, Saggy and Double Brandy—finished 27th, 41st and 64th among the 4,229 stallions represented by a starter in 1963.

Saggy took honors in both Most Winners (43) and Most Wins (105), followed by Rejected (41 and 104, respectively). Tuscany ranked third in Most Winners (38) and Double Brandy achieved the same position in Most Wins (95).

Rejected, based on his 1963 Average Earnings Index, ranked among the top four per cent of U.S. stallions, with a 2.65 figure. This means that his get earned more than 2½ times the average $3,152 purse distribution per starter. Native Dancer's 1963 index (2.60) placed him among the top five per cent.

On the Cumulative (lifetime) Index, Native Dancer has a 2.48 figure, placing him in the top three per cent. Saggy (2.32) and Correspondent (2.28) ranked in the top four per cent of sires. Other Maryland leaders on the Cumulative Index are as follows: *Endeavour II, 2.05; Discovery, 2.03; Rejected, 1.62; Trojan Monarch, 1.57; *Sea Charger, 1.55; Occupy, 1.51; Our John Wm., 1.48; Sun Bahram, 1.46; Tuscany, 1.43; Prince Dare, 1.43; Cornwall, 1.38 and *Hunters Moon IV, 1.37.

SIRES OF TWO-YEAR-OLDS: Native Dancer, represented by 20 foals, had 4 winners of 8 races and $60,255 to head up the Juvenile Sires classification. Native Dancer thus gained his third State championship in six years. Had not the Experimental highweight, Raise a Native, come to premature retirement, he most assuredly would rank considerably higher than 50th on the national list.

With only 10 foals working for him, Sun Bahram had a splendid record of 5 winners of 14 races and $58,385. His principal contributor was the stakes winner Hussar. Flaming Fleet, also with 10 foals, had 6 winners of 18 races and $53,542 in money earned to rank third.

Rejected (8) and Saggy and Go Lightly (7) were highest ranked in Most Winners; Flaming Fleet (18), Saggy (17) and Trojan Monarch (16) headed up the Most Races Won category among sires of Two-Year-Old Winners.

BROODMARE SIRES: For the sixth time in seven years, Discovery, late patriarch of Sagamore, reigns as Maryland's premier broodmare sire. His daughters produced 70 winners of 171 races and $406,166 last year. *Challenger II and The Rhymer trailed the great Vanderbilt stallion. Discovery and *Challenger II ranked one-two in both Most Winners, 70 and 59, respectively, and Most Wins 171 and 151, respectively.

Research on Lameness

This investigation was carried out in connection with a project of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station supported by a grant made by the Grayson Foundation, Inc., and is published with permission of the Director of the Station.

The main purpose of this discussion or lecture is to acquaint you with the fact that research is being done on equine lameness and to indicate some of the approaches and methods being utilized.

Just what is lameness? My definition would be that lameness is any disease process or abnormality which directly or indirectly results in or causes a modification of gait with loss of speed and/or performance. The wobbler, therefore, is as much a lame horse as is the animal with a bowed tendon or a popped knee.

Our approach to the study of lameness may be likened to detective work.

A crime occurs in the form of an acute lameness.

The scene of the crime is investigated for clues—C., the clinical examination of the horse.

If the crime was murder—the horse is dead—we have the opportunity to examine the body—the developed or resolving lesion, E. F.

The detective's next move is to go back to the beginning and observe and/or reconstruct an image of the person or persons involved and the premises involved before the crime occurred.

The detective is now in a position to reconstruct or postulate what happened before and during the commission of the crime. The "before" is important in order to establish motive, and the "during" is important in order to deduce the modus operandi—the method of operation—of the criminal.

With this information the detective now is in a position to apprehend the criminal.

A. Motive—provides suspects;

B. MO — provides the usual pattern the criminal follows, allowing prediction of his next move and a means of identification.

For the lame horse a similar pattern is followed. We have C. and E. or F.—clues at the scene of the crime, and the lesion.

Next, we too must go back to the beginning and reconstruct an image of what the horse was like before becoming lame. Also, of course, we must know what the premises were like—track surface, wet, dry, length of race, weight, soft spots on the landing side of a fence, etc.

Obviously, A. is what the horse was like and B. the environment or premises involved. A. and B. may be likened to the "motive" developed by the detective. In the anatomy of the horse A. and the factors—B.—operating on that anatomy, we have the motive or cause for the lameness.

What remains for the horse detective? Determination of D. the development of the lesion, the modus operandi.

The process of deducing the MO is the most difficult step. It is entirely dependent upon adequate information obtained from all other steps. We shall see in a few minutes how this process of collecting information—for the purpose of deducing the modus operandi—works.

At this point, one may well say — why bother? If one knows B. the motive or cause, simply eliminate it and lameness will not occur, and all the rest of the steps are useless academic meanderings.

But is that really so?

The causes of many lamenesses are known, but only by understanding how these causes operate in and on the horse can we hope to prevent them. To be overly simple, if you would refrain from riding, working, and racing horses, all lamenesses would virtually disappear. Work, in the general sense, causes lameness. Would you stop working horses? If you will, then I can stop worrying about A-F.

Let us now consider two specific examples of lameness and see how far we've gotten with them. I should note, parenthetically, that work is presently in progress on forms of lameness such as sesamoid fractures and osselets that may be of more immediate interest to you than those two examples we are using today. However, our information is still too scant on these conditions to make them, at this time, good examples of research methods on lameness.

The classical clinical symptoms of wobbles have been recognized for many years in the young horse with permanent inco-ordination of the rear and, less commonly, the fore legs.

The immediate explanation for this inco-ordination was found to be destruction of nerve fiber tracts in the neck portion of the spinal cord. The next question to be answered was, what caused this destruction of nerve tracts?

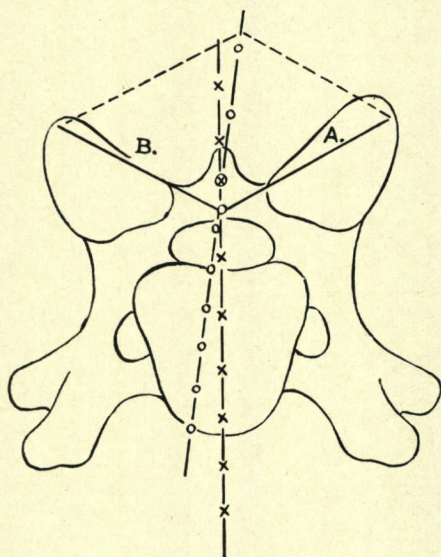

FIGURE 4

Many theories have been advanced in an effort to explain this nerve damage: worms, nutrition, trauma, and so on.

Finally, by going back to the beginning, the anatomy of the bones of the neck, part of the answer became apparent.

The accompanying drawing No. 1 shows two cleaned vertebrae from the neck. They are held together by a disk and by two small joints here. All movements occur at these 3 joints.

In drawing 2 we are looking head-on at an abnormal vertebra, one from a wobbler. Notice that the articular surface on one side of the wobbler vertebra is larger than the other. That is, they are asymmetrical — compared with normal.

In drawing 3 we have the same thing as seen from above.

Just what do these asymmetrical articulations have to do with the nerve tract damage?

In this drawing of the vertebrae—these two lines A and B represent the possibility for movement of each joint. If one constructs a parallelogram of movements in this fashion, the resultant of the two movements is along this line.

In other words, if the two joints were of the same size, they would move on this line or axis. When asymmetrical, however, they move along this line.

In this next picture, figure 4, we see that this deviation from the normal axis of movement occurs in the vertical plane as well as the horizontal.

In effect, when the horse, the wobbler, with this sort of asymmetrical vertebrae bends or flexes his neck, the two vertebrae rotate and bend to one side and place abnormal pressure on the spinal cord. This pressure, in turn, causes the damage to the nerve tracts in the spinal cord.

We now know many things about wobbles. The clinical symptoms of inco-ordination are caused by damage to nerves in the spinal cord. This damage is caused by abnormal movements of two or more neck vertebrae during flexion of the neck. The abnormal movements directly result from malformation of the small joints holding these vertebrae together. What we now are working on is how these malformations develop, before or after birth, genetic in origin, or what. Part of the answers we have, the remainder are being sought.

Let us consider next a rather common type of lameness that generally resolves itself, radial paralysis. We have had an opportunity to study four cases of this condition. Three cases were typical—with complete loss of ability to extend the foreleg. The fourth case was somewhat atypical. When walking, the right foreleg would be advanced and placed normally. As weight was put on the leg, however, the fetlock joint would buckle forward while the hoof remained firmly planted on the ground. As weight passed over the leg, the fetlock returned to its normal position.

At necropsy of these animals we could study the developed lesions. The various nerves innervating the paralyzed leg were cut out, and microscopic sections were made at many different points. It became apparent from study of these sections that nerve damage always occurred in the radial nerve from a point near the shoulder joint on down.

Herewith is a diagram of the foreleg with the radial nerve shown. The radial nerve is one supplying the extensor muscles of the foreleg, those which cause extension or reaching of the leg and allow weight-bearing. Figure 1.

Now we know that there was damage to the nerve supplying the muscles which were obviously paralyzed clinically. We also know, as a general rule, that if you damage a nerve there is more descending degeneration than ascending degeneration.

It appeared quite clearly, then, that the main or primary site of damage to the radial nerve was in the immediate vicinity of the shoulder joint.

The next step was to explain why this particular point on the nerve was damaged.

I believe you can see, at this point, a similarity with our story on wobbles. We have the clinical symptoms and nerve lesions to explain those symptoms. In the wobbler it was shown that malformation of vertebrae was responsible for the nerve lesions. Let us now see about the cause of nerve lesions in radial paralysis.

No obvious answer was available, and it became necessary to restudy the normal anatomy in an effort to find an answer.

To make a long story short we determined by anatomical dissections that the radial nerve lay in these positions in relation to shoulder joint in Figure 2. normal standing position with 125° angle between scapula and humerus, Figure 3. normal extension to 145° and Figure 4. overextension to 160° . (See drawings.)

The median and ulnar nerves are shown here, also, because it was important not only to

explain why the radial nerve was damaged, but why the median and ulnar nerves, lying close by, were not damaged.

It turned out that as the shoulder was extended more and more, the median and ulnar nerves shifted forward over the shoulder joint. The radial nerve did too, but was stopped at this point because it curves around the humerus from the inside to the outside—effectively fixing it right here.

This all means that in overextension of the limb, the median and ulnar nerves can slide forward to avoid development of normal tension, while the radial nerve can only go so far, and from there on severe tension develops.

It is obvious, too, that if the animal falls on this overextended limb there will not only be tension but compression between the shoulder joint and the chest wall.

In the case I mentioned earlier, without typical radial paralysis signs, damage was found in the radial nerve branches going to only one of the several extensor muscles of the forelegs. The degree of damage to the radial nerve by tension and compression, will, therefore, determine the clinical symptoms observed.

We now have a clear but incomplete picture of wobbles, and, I feel, a clear and complete picture of radial paralysis.

In neither case has research provided a solution to these problems. What has been done is to explain how they occur. With such knowledge of how—the modus operandi—we have at least the hope of learning how to prevent them.

Similar work, as already indicated, is going on with other forms of lameness and, perhaps, another year we may be able to tell you about The Case of the Fractured Sesamoid.

The Maryland Derby

Repeating Is Still Repeating

Continuing his dominance of the Maryland-bred 3-year-old stakes, Repeating captured the $20,000-added Maryland Derby at Laurel last month by a neck margin over Solid Fuel.

Repeating, owned by Mrs. Lucien Laurin, earned $14,787 in the one-mile race and was timed in a creditable 1.39 4/5. The bay son of Double Jay and Gay Jilted now has lifetime earnings of $70,433.

Bred by Mr. and Mrs. Peter Jay, of Havre de Grace, Repeating is the ninth foal and ninth winner from Gay Jilted, a 23-year-old broodmare who is still in production at the Jays' Windmill Hill Farm.

The Maryland Derby was Repeating's fourth start in a Maryland-bred stakes event. His record now stands at three wins and a second in these Maryland Fund races.

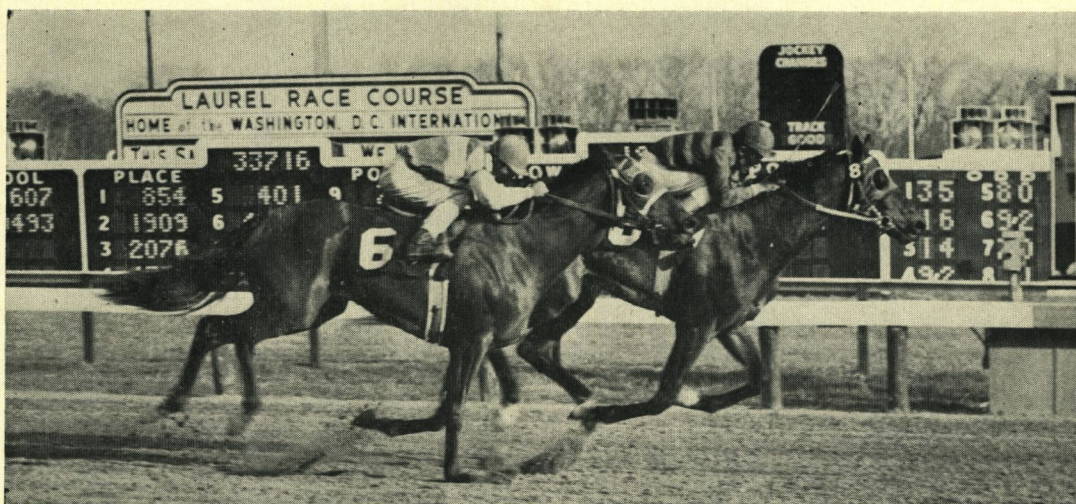

Repeating's first Maryland-bred stakes attempt was in the Bowie Breeders at Bowie last October. He finished strongly after a rough trip in that six-furlong event but lost by a nose to Cleveland Skinker's Spiral.

His next start was the $15,000 Pimlico Breeders which he won by three-quarters of a length from Solid Fuel. Then came the Annapolis at Bowie (he won by 5½ lengths from Eli Whitney) and the Prince Georges at Bowie (he won by three-quarters of a length from Eli Whitney).

Because he is by an out-of-State stallion, Repeating was ineligible for Laurel's Maryland Futurity last fall. Hussar won that race with Buona Fortuna second.

A recapitulation of the Maryland Fund stakes races for which the current crop of 3-year-olds have been eligible follows:

Maryland Fund Report

$190,000 Is Distributed At Bowie

The tremendous success of the Bowie meeting was clearly reflected in the Maryland Fund Program which derived $195,693.67 for distribution in purse money and breeder bonus awards.

Remarkably enough, only one Fund race failed to fill during the 52-day session. Racing Secretary John P. Turner, Jr. did an excellent job in scheduling the 20 Fund races throughout his five condition books, and horsemen responded by filling nineteen of those races.

The only race to die because of an insufficient number of entrants was a $5,000 purse event for 4-year-olds and up at six furlongs with a $7,500 claiming price.

This race, scheduled for February 11, drew four entrants. To fill a Maryland Fund race it is required by law that at least five qualified horses must be entered.

When the Bowie meeting began the Maryland Fund owed Bowie $4,212.78 as the result of an overpayment during the 1963 fall meeting. When the Bowie meeting ended, Bowie owed the Maryland Fund $605.89.

Here is the way it worked out:

track	total handle	.34 per cent to Maryland Fund	deficit from 1963 meeting	distributed	carry over to 1965 season:

Mrs. J. Millard Tawes, wife of Maryland's Governor, is shown presenting trophy following Flamin Hat's victory in Laurel's First Lady Stakes. Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lankford, Jr., the owners, are at left. Trainer B. P. (Toughy) Hacker is at right. Winning jockey was Sammy Palumbo.

Flamin Hat Wins Laurel Stake

Flamin Hat, winner of Laurel's $20,000-added First Lady Stakes, is a Virginia-bred daughter of the 15-year-old Maryland stallion Flaming Fleet.

Flaming Fleet, a son of Count Fleet, is a half-brother to Blue Swords. He is owned by Gerald Strickland, of Marcellus, N. Y., and stands at Merryland Farm, near Hydes, Md.

Purchased by Mr. Strickland as a yearling in 1950 for $10,500, Flaming Fleet won four races in eighteen starts and earned $9,670. He ran for claiming prices as low as $3,000.

Since being retired to stud Flaming Fleet has done much better as a stallion than his racing record would indicate. In addition to Flamin Hat, he has sired the stakes-winning Evening Flame, and another of his daughters, Quig Flame, ran Idun to a nose finish in the Gardenia Trial at Garden State in 1957.

Flamin Hat, who was ridden by 54-year-old Sam Palumbo in the First Lady Stakes, is a graduate of claiming-class races.

After breaking her maiden last year at Shenandoah, the B. P. (Toughy) Hacker-trained filly won a $5,500 claimer at Bowie.

The Maryland House & Garden Pilgrimage, an annual spring event, will again visit several prominent Maryland Thoroughbred breeding farms next month.

The tours will commence on May 1 and run through May 10. Water cruises will be held May 16 and 17.

Mrs. Frederick W. Wagner, Jr., chairman of the Pilgrimage Committee, reports admission for each day's tour is set at $4. Admission for a single house on the tour is $1.

The tour will begin at 10 A.M. May 1 in the Green Spring Valley.

Among the Thoroughbred farms to be visited during the Pilgrimage are Mrs. William H. Labrot's Holly Beach Farm (on May 2), Mr. and Mrs. John P. Pons' Country Life Farm (May 8), Mr. and Mrs. George W. Della 3d's Deep Spring Farm (May 7), Mr. and Mrs. Gwynne L. Holden's Southampton Farm (May 8) and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Wyman's Wye Heights (May 9).

Mrs. Peter Jay, wife of the Maryland Horse Breeders' Association's vice-president, is one of the Pilgrimage Committee's three vice-chairmen.

All money derived from the tour is spent on the preservation of significant historical sites, including maintenance of the Hammond-Harwood House in Annapolis.

Innovations this year are an Historical Landmarks Tour of Baltimore City and a Patuxent

Also scheduled are water cruises on the Chesapeake Bay from Baltimore to Oxford, located on the Eastern Shore.

The water cruises will cost $10 each day. A box lunch will be included.

'Turn Off That Heat!'

By Walter Haight

As my Mack truck model son once said when I admonished him for coming in after 11 p.m., "Pop, please don't tell me about when you were young. Times have changed."

And times really have changed in the field of winter horse racing—particularly as it concerns the horse players.

Even though it's a commonplace procedure now, I continue to chuckle when, on a bitter-cold day, I observe a grandstand patron take off his coat, place it neatly folded at his side and begin a study of the past performances.

This could only be a stock performance because the stands are glassed in and the heat is on.

But, as many of us so well remember, it wasn't always thus—not on some of the deep-freeze days we encountered when Charles Town first defied Old Man Winter.

Little wonder the overcoat-shedding bit continues to bring a smile, accompanied by thoughts that have to do with the many cold wars fought on the popular West Virginia battlefield.

Up pops a mind's picture of a winter day in the late '30s. The weather was unfair to horses and horse players—frozen track, deep snow and near zero temperature.

Clubhousers made frequent visits to the open fireplace, while grandstandees snuggled up to the oil-drum "bullies" in the main betting ring.

As races were run, a few hardy souls ventured to the rail or into the frigid stand but soon hustled back to available warmth.

On the coldest of racing days I noticed a permanent occupant of the grandstand. A middle-aged matron sat with all the dignity her bulky clothes and blankets would allow.

She wasn't a sightseer as the trade refers to a patron who "sits on his hands," meaning he doesn't bet.

Finally, cat-killing curiosity overcame me and I waddled down from the pressbox for a quick-pitch interview.

In answer to my "how come?" approach, she smiled and said: "You city folks could learn a lot from us country folks. We can take a heap of cold.

"Your women could learn a lot from us," she added.

With that she opened a blanket wrapped from her waist to the floor—and what to my wondering eyes did appear but a lighted oil lamp!

"You can see that I don't even have the wick turned high," she smiled. "This is an old farm trick my mother used before me. Of course, you never milked a cow, but I've had several to unload each morning all my life."

She added: "I put the lantern under the stool, circle the blanket around—and the cows come to me."

At racing's end, she picked up the lantern, blew out the flame, and, with blankets over arm, headed for the betting ring with that satisfied look so often the identity of a winner.

My subsequent lantern story might have given somebody the thought that a "For-Hire" lantern business would thrive.

However, it's too late now to interest patrons in lanterns. In fact, jockeys don't carry lanterns, either—the last one was Paul Revere.

As Always, The Viewpoints

Ralph Retler States His Mind

Since another horse show season is here I feel it would be a good time to discuss the antiquated and controversial method of licensing show judges.

The present system says that one must serve, in effect, an apprenticeship. That is, one must serve as a so-called junior judge (regardless of experience or age) with a senior judge for a prescribed number of recognized shows. Then the junior judge is permitted to make application for a senior card, and, when granted, the whole circle of ignorance starts anew.

My opinion is based on the fact that I have served as judge in unrecognized shows for the past 20 odd years and more recently as guest judge at recognized shows. And I have been for many years an announcer at the best local shows while being a member of the official family.

I have been doing these things a long, long time. Probably even before many of the present executive officers of the Association of Maryland Horse Shows attended a show. (Some people learn more quickly.)

I have never heard a so-called senior judge bestow any alleged knowledge on the junior judge with whom he was working. Assuming the rules are followed (a matter of reading), the junior and senior judges compare cards and usually compromise on the senior judge's selections.

Is this bestowing knowledge upon a novice or perhaps convincing him his partner is not so smart in spite of his senior rating? (After all, how did he acquire the knowledge?)

Many persons of quality and competence

(oddly enough, not "dealers") will not endeavor to obtain a judge's card because of the aspersions cast on their ability by being publicly forced to serve with a so-called senior who is years younger and considerably less experienced.

Now what is judging? Basically it is the expressing of an opinion. The problem is that a judge's opinion means little unless he is competent.

May I suggest a system similar to that used in the licensing of race horse trainers?

An examination (written and/or oral) should be given by the examining board. Motion pictures of horses performing in various shows and still slides for conformation study could and should be used.

Background research to prove the applicant's knowledge and association with the sport should be mandatory.

I'm sure the show licensing committee has had occasions where the competence of the applicant was assured, but they are evidently unable to circumvent the present rules and methods.

Perhaps it is time and past time to realize that anyone with the betterment of the sport in mind should take steps to see that the short-sightedness now prevalent in the licensing of show judges is keeping a sorely needed group of new and old enthusiastic devotees from being active.

I'm certain there are many capable, honest men and women who would be glad to serve without remuneration in an official capacity if the present rule were changed or modified.

The committee and officials of the Association of Maryland Horse Shows have the power to do so. The only problem as I see it is this: who in the official family of the Association of Maryland Horse Shows would give the examination?

Vary As Show Season Nears

E.A.J. Kilner Anticipates The Fun

The bitter, bone chilling winds of winter have softened. And now it is spring—the horse show season is upon us!

Watching a horse show is probably one of the most restful endeavors known to man. There is no need to arrive for the first class, there is little or no traffic congestion, and it is a very good excuse for a pleasant countryside picnic. No one cares if you nap through a few classes, and, well, it is just about the most pleasant way to spend a spring or summer's day.

Going to a horse show also gives one the opportunity to poke curiously into the places that are not usually open to public view. One of the earliest shows is held at the stately Doughoregan Manor, the historic home of Charles Carroll of Carrollton. The show is run on the front lawn, if you can call 30 or 40 acres a front lawn. Two rings are run simultaneously, gaily colored booths sit coolly beneath ancient shade trees, and the air tingles with excitement of the horse show season.

The show at the Green Spring Hunt Club includes a delicious luncheon served beneath a canopy spread directly in front of the comfortable 1790 Club. Inside, the walls are covered with interesting old hunt prints. The framed photos and prints of past Masters of the Hunt are also displayed. Each room whispers comfort and relaxation. The show is held in the ring area behind the house, and it is one of the best of the season.

How about a jaunt out to old St. James, My Lady's Manor, about 30 minutes north of Baltimore on Manor Road? This area and in particular the Church and its grounds are rich in tradition that makes our State outstanding. The show ring is laid out in semi-amphitheater style. There are three tiers of ground cut out of the sloping hillside. The first two tiers are used for parking and spectators viewing the show on the lowest level. One can see everything that is happening on both the inside and the outside courses.

If you want to see some remarkably talented youngsters perform, the opportunity presents itself at most any show. The best chance to see these young people is at the biggest pony and junior show in the United States. The Maryland Pony Show held at Timonium Fair Grounds had at its last meet in July, 1963, 365 contestants in 65 classes, and Bozo the Clown in the bargain!

A Junior show is not a show that is open only to small children and small animals. It is for entrants under 18 years of age. Of all the horse shows in the Howard, Baltimore, and Harford counties during the summer, this one comes closest to a country fair atmosphere.

It was not uncommon years ago to have hundreds of spectators present at even the smallest horse show. People knew more about this equestrian sport, and generally had a "good eye for a horse." Today the attendance at horse shows is far below what it could and should be. When and if people realize that there is more than one way to look at and admire a horse, that an eye for a good horse is not essential today to enjoy a show, then, and only then, will this State begin to enjoy the attendance deserved of a State that has an international reputation for its horses and its horse activities. Everyone is welcome at all of the shows, and a social register listing definitely is not needed to enjoy this wonderful sport.

One need know nothing at all about horses or show ring procedure to enjoy moving beauty that takes place in the show ring. The rippling muscular beauty of a Rodin sculpture, the color and old world charm of the hunt print, the rhythm of classical music, are all blended into exciting seconds, minutes, and hours as a show builds to the climax of "Best in Class." If there is a hint of artistic understanding in your soul, and if you want as much for your children, it can be found at the Maryland horse shows. The season opens in May, so you can start to plan the picnic basket and its trimmings now!

Timber Season Is Underway

By Edward A. J. Kilner

The 1964 Maryland timber race season officially opened at the Howard County Hunt meet Saturday, March 28. The course on Merriweather Farm, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Butler, of Glenelg, was in its second year of use.

The race meets formerly centered around the Howard County Hunt Club, but numerous circumstances prompted a move of the meet to Merriweather Farm in 1963. For pure spectator interest the move was well worth while. Never have so many been able to see so much of a three-mile course in natural hunt country.

The course was designed and laid out by John R. Devereaux, III and C. Oliver Goldsmith. It is meant to be a stiff but fair course for proving both the horse and rider under all conditions. It is an exceptional layout in that it does the impossible: it pleases everyone.

A dark, overcast sky put a cold bite in the strong winds that whipped across the Butler estate. At first it looked as if the cold may have dampened the spirits of the owners and riders who wished to compete, because there were only nine entrants in the four separate races.

The day, however, proved to be an exciting one. The course tends to show the horse and rider at his best and is so constructed as to equalize the entrants' errors. There was not one run-away win at this meet, and those who were thinking of entering one of the races and did not do so, missed a prime opportunity to "show their stuff."

The Glenelg Bowl was first to be run. The entries were More Fun, owned by Marrian Curran and ridden by Norman Fraley; and Danny Boy, owned and ridden by Mary Taylor. It was a Junior race for ladies and gentlemen under 18 years of age.

Danny Boy took the lead at the first of 18 fences. Miss Taylor's mount fenced well until the third jump, which he refused. While Danny Boy was collecting himself, More Fun had cleared this uphill jump, lost footing, dumped and ran over his rider. Mr. Fraley jumped up unhurt, pursued and caught his horse and, in an instant, remounted and took off after Danny Boy with a purpose. By this time Danny Boy had a quarter mile lead, and was running strong, but More Fun closed the gap with every stride. At the fourteenth jump More Fun caught Danny Boy and they jumped the fence together. From that point it was a knock down and drag out battle, until More Fun crossed the finish by a bare three-quarter length lead with a time of seven minutes thirty-eight and four fifths seconds.

The Alda Clark Challenge Plate brought up ten-year-old Brush Creek and six-year-old Double Martini. Brush Creek was owned and ridden by Charles R. Linton, and Mrs. J. K. Secor's Double Martini had John Bosley up. Brush Creek jumped to the lead for the first three fences, and then relinquished the lead to Mrs. Secor's horse until the fifteenth hurdle. There was never much daylight between them, and the steam was poured on by both riders from the sixteenth jump on. Only on the uphill run to the finish did Double Martini fade a little, but it was enough to give Brush Creek the first place in seven minutes, thirteen and three-fifths seconds.

Now came the main event of the day, the running of the Howard County Hunt Race, and again there were only two entrants. This, however, turned out to be a well-matched race between two old contenders. The older, consistent Hurdy Gurdy with Kingdon Gould riding, and the ground-eating nine-year-old, Mountain Dew, 1962 Maryland Hunt Cup winner with (who else) Janon Fisher, III, up. Hurdy Gurdy had trailed the Fisher horse in a number of Maryland races, always seeming to play second fiddle. This time the aged horse would not let up for a second, and Mr. Gould guided him beautifully all the way.

Mountain Dew charged to the front for the first three jumps and, as Hurdy Gurdy moved up fast, laid back to wait for the older horse to run himself out. Mr. Fisher kept the pressure on all the time, but it was soon obvious that the old boy was full of grit today as the distance between them opened to fifteen lengths. At the eleventh fence, Hurdy Gurdy refused. The crowd gasped and mourned in dejection as the gallant horse seemed to have lost his opportunity. Mountain Dew moved quickly ahead, but before he could reach the next jump, a jet-propelled Hurdy Gurdy caught and held the lead again.

Not a soul gathered failed to feel the tingling excitement as these two exceptional horses vied for the lead over the last six jumps. The air was electrified as they came over the final jump, and pounded for the finish. No one breathed or moved as the old contender inched ahead on the inside and burst across the finish with half a length lead in six minutes, fifty-four seconds.

The final race of the day, the Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Edgar Memorial, was the heavy-weight race for riders at 185 lbs. The entries were C. Oliver Goldsmith's Arundel with Roy Graham riding; Douglas Worrall's Dark Chaos with Mr. Worrall up; and the old faithful, Sagahash, owned by Mr. Frank A. Bonsal and jockeyed by Mr. Frank A. Bonsal, Jr.

The start was clean with Arundel on top, but this eight year old bay gelding soon proved to be the balkiest contender of the day, and lefthanding at the sixth fence, leaped a four foot wire fence, tossed his rider, and headed for open country. Dark Chaos had in the meantime taken a good strong lead over Sagahash, about twenty lengths at the eleventh jump. At this point Mr. Bonsal opened up on Sagahash and began to steadily close the distance between himself and the front runner, Dark Chaos. At the fifteenth jump Dark Chaos in an effort to keep the lead came a cropper in a most spectacular fall that came within a hair's breath of crushing Douglas Worrall.

Sagahash now had the final jumps and the race all to himself. Mr. Bonsal did not give up his winning pace for a second, and crossed the line in the fastest time of the day, six minutes, thirty and two-fifths seconds.

The day was an invigorating beginning of the Maryland timber season, and established the Merriweather Farm course as an exceptionally fine addition to this breathtaking sport.

WMAR To Televisе Races

Maryland's horse-racing fans will be able to see not only the Triple Crown—Kentucky Derby, Pimlico's Preakness, and the Belmont Stakes—but also an added list of outstanding stakes races from New York tracks, according to a contract just concluded by WMAR-TV for Channel 2's viewers.

Beginning with the $75,000-added Wood Memorial at Aqueduct on Saturday, April 18th, the series will include weekly stakes up to the value of $100,000 every Saturday afternoon at 4:30 P.M.

Noted sportscaster Win Elliott will conduct each of the programs (except the Triple crown) and Fred Capossela will call the order of horses during the running of each race.

Each race will be repeated via videotape. During this segment of the half-hour program, the noted former jockey Sammy Renick will have the winning rider by his side to describe his experience during the race. This is an unusual feature recently developed in television race coverage, and provides many an interesting reaction by the riders who meet and solve dangerous problems of horse traffic in nearly every race.

The Wood Memorial, which opens the new series on WMAR-TV, is an important test of three-year old horses which aspire to the Triple Crown stakes.

The Triple Crown races are presented by the CBS Television Network, and the other races in the list by Sports Network.

Champion Field Hunter: Jaydo, Variety Hill Farm

Reserve Champion Field Hunter: Valdeboy, Valley View Stables

The first annual New Market Hunter Trials were held at Mr. and Mrs. Richard Zimmerman's Variety Hill Farm, New Market, Md. on March 7. Many spectators turned out to see the horses perform over a challenging course. Jaydo, a three-year-old registered Quarter horse, came through with flying colors to be awarded Champion Field Hunter with Richard and Donnie Zimmerman sharing the irons. Valley View Stables' consistent hunter, Valdeboy, with Mrs. Eugene Reid up, was Reserve.

The Hunter Trials were the first held in the Frederick area and received enthusiastic support from the members of the newly established New Market Hounds. The hunt, which is in its first year, has been widely accepted by horsemen and landowners alike.

Pimlico's Stakes

Four stakes races, endowed with $200,000 in added money, have been scheduled for Pimlico's spring meeting commencing April 27.

Highlighting the stakes program will be the 88th running of the Preakness Stakes on Saturday, May 16. The $150,000 classic, richest jewel of the Triple Crown, attracted 147 nominations, but late-developing three-year-olds may be made supplementary entries by payment of $10,000 on Thursday, May 14.

The Preakness, first run in 1873, is traditionally scheduled for the third Saturday in May at a distance of a mile and three-sixteenths. Windfields Farm's Northern Dancer and Clark-Radcovitch's Hill Rise top the bumper crop of three-year-olds named to the $150,000-added classic.

Supporting the Preakness on the spring stakes schedule are the $15,000 Riggs Handicap, for three-year-olds and up at a mile and a sixteenth on the turf, Saturday, May 2; the $20,000 Black-Eyed Susan Stakes, on Saturday, May 9; and the $15,000 Walden States, Saturday, May 23.

The Black-Eyed Susan, filly counterpart of the Preakness, is staged at a mile and a sixteenth. The Walden, revived last year after a 15-year lapse, will be the first stakes for two-year-olds during the Maryland spring racing season. Contested at five furlongs, the Walden is restricted to registered Maryland-bred two-year-olds.

Letters To The Editor

Here are a few comments on Major Stryker's article in THE MARYLAND HORSE, regarding the riding styles of today.

Joe Culmone feels that by riding short and even he can be of more help to a horse than by riding long. This means that he can take full advantage of his weight and strength. But Joe cautions that you must be in top physical shape in order to ride short.

William Zakoor sets his irons to whatever length is comfortable for him.

William likes to ride short and agreed with Joe Culmone's feelings, but added that he will adjust his irons a hole or two varying with the conformation of a horse.

Spare That Whip

Indiscriminate use of the whip has been visually depicted in a large number of pictures recently viewed in harness racing publications and the daily press. Generally these are of pacing race finishes and clearly show the one-handed whipping of a cluster of hopped pacers. Often it is noted that the drivers have "thrown away" the lines and are in violent clouting motion with the whip hand. It is perhaps impressive to naive spectators but doubtful whether it improves the horses' finishing positions. Certainly, it is abusive and cruel to them.

Recently a picture of a finish at a Chicago area track depicted a top driver of last year clouting a hopped pacer. The whip was in his right hand, the lines were in his left hand with the left line showing a foot of slack, his left foot was out of the stirrup and he was in an awkward sidewise crouch—what if the horse stumbled or a competitor bumped the sulky accidentally or otherwise?

Recently the writer was interviewed by representatives of the ASPCA (American Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals) and the HSUS (Humane Society of the United States) and the aforementioned whipping malpractices were discussed. It appears that such organized groups and perhaps others will strike out and wage an all out campaign to eliminate the indiscriminate usage of whips in harness racing. Perhaps flagrant violators will be subjected to arrest and the incidents highlighted in the daily press. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

Delaware's Purses Set

Delaware Park will distribute more than $2,000,000 in stakes and purses during the 55-day meeting which will open May 30. The outlay to horsemen is approximated on the basis of about $30,000 per day in purses, and a figure approaching half a million for the 13 stake events.

Jumping events again will be a feature of the sport at Delaware and there will be, in addition to the 13 flat stakes, three $10,000 steeplechase features, and a new $7,500 hurdles feature. The steeplechases are the traditional Tom Roby, Georgetown and Indian River, while the new hurdles race will be named the Holly Tree in honor of the state tree of the Diamond State.

There will also be a new stake on the flat for fillies. The new race is named the Rosenna in honor of William duPont's filly of that name who won the first running of the Delaware Handicap in 1937.

ASSEMBLYMAN

out of a stakes-winning, stakes-producing mare who is out of a stakes-winning, stakes-producing mare.

Sire of 5 two-year-old winners from his first full crop in 1963, including Baitman who was weighted at 105 pounds on the Experimental Handicap

Pedigree and racing record are usually an indication of a stallion's potential, but the only PROOF of a horse's worth is the quality of his offspring. Assemblyman has pedigree, and he had racing class. Now his offspring furnish the PROOF of his class as a stallion.

1959 (first crop). Was bred previous year to two "sample" mares. The matings resulted in two foals: the stakes-placed County Chairman (winner in 1964 of the $7,500 Marriage Handicap) and the frequent winner Yea and Neigh.

1960. No foals. Was trained previous year and was not bred.

1961 (second crop but FIRST FULL crop). Sired 17 registered foals of whom five were winners at 2 in 1963. They were: Baitman, winner of 3 races and weighted on the Experimental Handicap; Too Many, a winner of 2 races before being destroyed in a stable fire, and the winners Vice Chairman, Ceely's Man and Miss Tina.
